CALLED WITHOUT A MOMENT'S WARNING

W. T. Kane, Well Known Lecturer on Agriculture and Live Stock.

Mr. W. T. Kane, one of the most prominent citizens of Eastern Kentucky, died suddenly at his residence near Paducah, this county, Tuesday evening last. He had just finished his supper and without any warning, so far as we know, dropped to the floor dead. He was buried the next day at his home, after funeral services conducted by the Rev. L. E. McElowney, of this city.

Mr. Kane was 74 years, 5 months and 29 days old. He was born in Ohio and came to this State 25 years ago. He married Miss Josephine Sloan, daughter of Eli Sloan, a well known citizen of this county. He is survived by a widow and one son, John, who is now a student at the University of Kentucky. He was a member of the family of the deceased. Two nephews, James and Will Kane, at one time were residents of this place, and visited here a few years ago. The NEWS is not informed concerning his other relatives.

By the death of Mr. Kane a good citizen and valuable man has been lost to the community. He was one of the most prominent agriculturists in the State. His services were sought as a lecturer and teacher in various agricultural and county institutes, and he always had a prominent place on the program of instruction. He was a "Book Farmer" and a practical one. His ideas were advanced, up-to-date, and intelligent. He was fond of his occupation and left nothing undone which would add to his knowledge of husbandry. He was a great reader of books pertaining to his favorite subjects and what he read he remembered. He took much interest in local agricultural matters, being an active member of the various Lawrence county agricultural associations, contributing in every manner possible to the attractions offered by the County Fair. He was a man of pronounced individuality, having ideas of his own which he advanced and upheld with forcible terms. By his death the farmers of this county lose a valuable friend. He was a man of sterling integrity, industrious, and active in affairs. He sought by every means in his power to promote the agricultural interests of this county.

In religion he was a member of the Presbyterian organization, and the NEWS is informed that every night before retiring he sought to make himself right with his Creator. He was a good husband and father and public spirited citizen and good man. The death of such a character is a distinct loss, not only to his grief-stricken family, but the community and the State as well. His funeral was largely attended, which showed the esteem and respect in which he was held.

A BABY WHOSE FATHER IS NINETY-SIX

Remarkable Old Man Still Living in Letcher County.

Whitesburg, Ky., February 5.—There is little question that Uncle Bob Bates, who a few days ago rounded out his ninety-sixth birthday at his home on the headwaters of Rockhouse creek, ten miles from here, in Letcher-co., is the most remarkable man in this country. Uncle Bob a few weeks ago became the father of a bright baby, making the twenty-fourth that had come to bless him. Talking of his children to an Enquirer representative, Uncle Bob said, pointing toward a tot in the corner: "There's our baby boy snugly tucked under the cover—he's a corker—the most wonderful child in the world, according to my version. We think of him Woodrow, in honor of President Wilson. Here (pointing to a little girl close by his side) is Mildred—Cleo we call her for short, two-and-a-half-year-old girl and her little Minerva, our four-year-old. Both are good little girls—we know they are on the place." He was interrogated by the correspondent regarding his family in general. Uncle Bob said: "You see, I have married three times and as a result I have three families—by my first wife I have nine children, by my second wife I have seven children, by my third wife I have five children, making 24 in all. I am proud of all of them as any father could be, and I have none to spare. I think there's nothing like the way we've been quite awhile in naming the great number of them. By the way I don't believe in 'race suicide'."

little less than two days. Hearing of a big bunch of cattle, a few days later set out on horseback into Washington-co., Va. "I could not find no money in the cattle, so I returned without them," said Uncle Bob. He then set out afoot and covers many miles over mountains to gather up young stock. At the recent November election he set out to his voting place at Colson, afoot, seven miles, and returned before noon, making the 14 miles "without the least fatigue," as he expressed himself.

While Uncle Bob has never been a politician—what some men call politicians—yet he, upon the earnest solicitation of his legion of friends, became a candidate for the Legislature 23 years ago, to be exact. He was overwhelmingly elected, but not satisfied with the whims of politicians, he decided he would never again become a candidate. Thirty-three years ago he again responded to the call of friends and became a candidate for a place in the Kentucky House of Representatives, was elected, a Democrat from a Republican district, and it was during this session of the Legislature that he had passed a number of important measures. One was the establishment of a new county—the County of Knott, out of parts of Letcher and Floyd counties. The important measures won him considerable fame. Several years later he became a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Letcher-co. He ran away ahead of his opponent and made a splendid official. Afterward he was urged to become a candidate again. "I am forever out of politics," he said.

During the Civil War Uncle Bob joined the forces of the South, became a Colonel and saw service in many a memorable conflict for his country's cause. He is to-day well preserved—as well as the average man of 60. His eyesight is good, his hearing all that anyone could wish—in fact, every indication points to the fact that Uncle Bob will live and enjoy the fruits of his labors many years longer. He said he had never used tobacco nor coffee, had never smoked a cigarette, had taken life easy and never worried in the least, which are safe attributes of his long and successful life. Closing, he said: "I have always drank a moderate quantity of whiskey—pure whiskey—moonshine, unadulterated, if I can get it. No one can deny that it is not healthful."

Uncle Bob stated that his descendants numbered nearly 200 grandchildren, about 150 great-grandchildren and from 50 to 75 great-great-grandchildren scattered over Letcher and Knott counties. He is a brother of Captain Bates, the famous Kentucky giant, now residing at Seville, Ohio, whom Uncle Bob has been a life-long Democrat, having rarely "scratched" his ticket.

FRANK LOCKWOOD ANSWERS SUMMONS

Prominent Young Farmer Dies From a Mastoid Operation.

The death of Mr. Frank Lockwood at a hospital in Cincinnati, has caused profound sorrow throughout this entire section. He was universally popular and beloved. He was also connected by blood with several of our leading families. His mother was a Vanhorn. He was related to the Moore family, one of the most distinguished in this city. He was 42 years old and was the only child of the late John Lockwood and Mrs. Lucy Lockwood. He was devoted to his mother and in turn was idolized by her. Since the death of his father some years ago, he had accumulated much wealth and the Lockwood farm is probably the finest in the county and is worth a fortune. It is said of him that he was interested in every good move, was public spirited to a marked degree and could always be counted on to lend assistance in any good move. He was ever quick to detect worth and to lend a helping hand. His tenants are said to have been devoted to him. He was broadminded and liberal, magnanimous and generous to a fault. He had that nobility of soul that strongly attached men to him. He was an adherent of the M. E. Church, South, and was a good Sunday school worker at Mary Moore Chapel, near his home. It being due to his efforts that this was considered one of the finest Sunday schools in the county.

The remains arrived at the home at Lockwood station Saturday evening. A large concourse of sorrowing friends awaited the arrival at the depot. The remains were accompanied by his grief-stricken mother, his cousins, Burr Powell of Lockwood, and Mrs. Clara Powell-Williams, of Ashland, the two latter having been with him at the hospital.

Mr. Lockwood had many relatives in this city, the nearest of kin being an aunt, Mrs. Eliza O'Brien.

DROPPED DEAD.

"Aunt" Patsy Goble, a well known and respected colored woman of this city, dropped dead Thursday evening of this week. She was past 80 years of age, and was the mother of several children.

Mrs. Wat. Andrews and Mrs. George Calvin, of Ashland, and many relatives and friends from this vicinity attended the funeral of Mrs. Ellen Waldeck Monday.

HARRY MCCLURE DIES AT AGE 75

Good Citizen Passes Away After Brief
Illness of Pneumonia

Died, at his residence, six or seven miles above Louisa, Mr. Harry McClure, a member of one of the most prominent families in Lawrence county. He had not been sick very long, having contracted pneumonia some two weeks ago while attending the funeral of a neighbor. His death occurred on Monday, Feb. 21st. The funeral took place Wednesday and was very largely attended by relatives and friends. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Newell H. Young, pastor of the M. E. Church, of this city. Mr. McClure having been for many years a consistent member of that denomination. Interment was made at near the place of his death in a burial ground which overlooks the place on the opposite side of the river where he was born, the old Wm. McClure homestead.

Mr. McClure is survived by a widow, who herself is very ill of the disease which caused the death of her husband. There are also living seven children, all grown, two of whom live in Louisa. Mr. Rice McClure and Mrs. Hammond. Beside these, there is an aged sister, the venerable Mrs. Nancy Billups, of this city. There are also other sisters and one brother, Mr. T. B. McClure, of Wayne, W. Va. Several nieces and nephews live in this city. Mr. McClure lacked four hours of being 75 years of age, having died at 8 p. m. on the last day of his 74th year.

Mr. McClure was well known as a good citizen, husband, and father and as a consistent member of the church. He was held in high regard by his neighbors, the people who know any man best. He had always lived in this county and was known as a man of sterling integrity. The loss of such a citizen is a loss indeed.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD DAIRY.
Quite recently the Home Dramatic Company, of this city, gave a very creditable presentation of this beautiful drama at the Masonic Hall. It was largely attended by an appreciative audience and was received with every evidence of deserved favor. The company contains some excellent players, and the giving of another entertainment by them would be welcomed by a full house.

BRIDAL SHOWER AND MOCK MARRIAGE

Enjoyable Event in Honor of Miss
Jeanne Adams.

Quite the most novel and amusing function of the season was the antinuptial shower given last Saturday afternoon by Miss Goldie Byington, in honor of the bride elect, Miss Jeanne Adams, of this city. The scene of the occasion was the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McClure, which had been tendered to Miss Byington especially for this event. Bridal showers are by no means rare, but this was quite unique because of its dominant feature—a mock marriage. This marriage had all the accessories of the real thing, except the marriage itself. The high "contracting parties" were Miss Julia Dorcas Snyder representing Miss Adams, and Miss Goldie Byington representing "Bill" McClure, or as a placard on the back of the groom's coat said, "Bill." The ribbon bearers were Mrs. Richard V. Garred and Miss Victoria Garred, the flower girl Miss Shirley Burns, matrons of honor, Mrs. R. L. Vinson and Mrs. F. L. Stewart, the officiating clergyman was Miss Clara Bromley, and Miss Opal Spencer presided at the piano. Promptly at the hour, as reporters say when speaking of the real thing, Miss Opal Spencer began the strains of the well known march and the procession descended the stairs into the parlor which had been handsomely decorated for the occasion. The first figures that presented themselves were the ribbon bearers, making an aisle with their white ribbons, then came Miss Shirley Burns bearing flowers, and following her were the matrons of honor immediately preceding the bride and groom, who presented themselves before the improvised altar, behind which stood the officiating clergyman, who after a fashion of his own, proceeded to unite them in the holy bonds of matrimony. All this seems quite matter of fact, as usual, because for more reasons than one it is impossible to tell of all the funny things that were said and done. The questions asked the bride and groom were by no means of the ordinary kind. When the question was asked if any person had any objection to offer, the genius who presided at the piano for the band, giving a very original reason why the marriage, according to her opinion, should not go on. In fact nothing was omitted which could make this mock marriage a very, very funny affair.

The dresses of the guests and those of the wedding party who did not represent the masculine gender were very appropriate and handsome. When it comes to describing the apparel worn by the "Rev. Mr. McClowney" and Mr. "Bill McClure," the merchant tailor could do it better than the writer. Two dress suits of two of Louisa's young bloods had been pressed into service for this occasion and that they were perfect will be no doubt. The "fls" were perfect. The Rev. gentleman, whose name was taken for the occasion, would never have known himself had he looked in the glass, and it required a placard pinned on the back of his coat to inform those present as to his identity. There was no "man person" within a block of the charmed precincts of the house, hence fun was free, fast and furious.

Without refreshments the affair would have been incomplete and those served on this occasion completed the function very handsomely indeed. The matron of the home, Mrs. McClure, herself took of no mean ability, declaring that no such chicken salad, pigments sandwiches and orange ice were ever made. The work of the preparation of the feast and all else pertaining to this occasion was the handiwork of Miss Byington.

The shower was almost a downpour, the number of useful, ornamental and appropriate articles being too numerous to mention. The affair from its conception to its close was highly successful.

FOUR PERSONS BITTEN BY TWO MAD DOGS

All the Victims are Being Treated for Hydrophobia.

On Friday last Mr. James Shannon, who lives not far from the old Ulysses Garred place about eight miles above this city, was bitten by a dog, which is believed by many to have had hydrophobia or rabies. The dog belonged to Mr. Shannon, who had been examining the animal as it lay on the floor in the house. As he turned away the dog sprang at him twice, the first time catching him by the arm, but not biting him. The second time, however, the dog caught him by the nose, lacerating it badly. The brute was instantly shot by a son of Mr. Shannon, blowing nearly all of its head off. Mr. Shannon came at once to Louisa where Dr. T. D. Burgess dressed the injury. The doctor is giving daily attention to his patient using the approved Pasteur treatment, giving him hypodermic injections of anti hydrophobic serum daily. This treatment will be continued for three weeks, when the patient will be safe.

Mr. Shannon is a man of family and a son of Harry Shannon. The wound on his nose is healing very well and Dr. Burgess thinks his patient is safe. The dog's head would have been sent away for examination, but it was too badly shattered.

Three Bitten By Mad Dog.

Ashland, Ky., Feb. 18.—Three persons were bitten by a mad dog at the home of Mrs. J. B. Powell at Burnaugh near this city. They were Mary Rice, 6 years old, of New Richmond, O., a niece of Mrs. Howell; Miss Emma Byard, a maid, and a negro employee. All were taken to Bowling Green for Pasteur treatment.

DEATH RELIEVES AN AGED INVALID

Mrs. Ellen Waldeck, Helpless for Twelve Years, is Called Home.

A short while before noon on Sunday February 20, after twelve years of suffering and illness, Mrs. Ellen Burgess Waldeck sank to eternal rest without a pang. Her illness, long and painful as it was, was borne with a christian fortitude and patience which was born of the faith which she professed in her Redeemer. On the following day in the early afternoon a very large number of the sorrowing, sympathetic relatives and friends gathered at the house where she had for so many years been a mother, to pay the last tribute of respect to this much beloved woman. The short service was appropriate, simple and touching. It was conducted by the Rev. L. E. McElowney, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of which church the deceased had been for many, many years a consistent and devout member. Mr. McElowney took no special text, but selected passages of scripture, which, as they were spoken by him, must have been very comforting to the immediate family of the deceased. He spoke as he had heard of her because he had known her only a short time, but as he had said shortly before her death he had heard many good things spoken of her, nothing but good. Hymns, which were doubtless favorites of hers, were sung—some of the old hymns of the church that have been sung so many, many times before that one would almost unfailingly guess what they were—"Nearer my God to Thee," "Jesus Lover of my Soul" and "Abide with Me." They were sung beautifully and touchingly without any effort at display which eminently became the pure, simple, sweet life of her whose ears were deaf to mortal melodies, but which could hear and drink in sounds of the bright world to which she had gone.

At the conclusion of the short service very many who had not seen the dead woman for some time previous, passed by the flower-covered casket and gazed upon the features of her whom they had known in health and whose face, which had been drawn and seamed by the pangs of many years, appeared almost made young again. Her suffering seemed to have left no traces, whatever.

Then, borne by six of her nephews, the casket was taken to the house and by it conveyed to Pine Hill cemetery where the silent dust of the husband, who had preceded her many years, quietly reposed.

Mrs. Waldeck was born December 19, 1842, being at the time of her death in her 74th year. She was the daughter of the late George R. Burgess and was one of eleven children. Her demise leaves but one surviving member of that large family, Mrs. Wm. Carey, of this city.

In 1868 she was married to Wm. H. Waldeck and shortly thereafter went to housekeeping in Louisa where she remained until the day of her death. To Mr. and Mrs. Waldeck were born four children, one son and three daughters, all of whom are living except one daughter who died at the age of three years. She was in every respect an ideal woman, one of her dominant traits being her love for her home and a deep affection for her husband and children. This affection was shared by her numerous relatives whom she was always fond of having with her. She was eminently a home woman, caring but little if anything, for society or the amusements of the world. For her church and preacher, however, she was always ready to do something. In this respect she shared a notable characteristic of her revered father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Burgess, who for so many years lived at the old Burgess homestead where they dispensed a hospitality as abundant as it was generous.

Mrs. Waldeck's love for her children was great and self-sacrificing and to their honor, be it said, these children in so far as they could, repaid their mother with the profoundest, affectionate regards. When stricken by the dreadful paralytic stroke no one except those who were in position to know, could begin to tell how tenderly, patiently and unremittently the poor woman, helpless as a baby, was watched, nursed and otherwise cared for. Every wish she expressed was gratified. One of the daughters, Janie, was a hopeless invalid, but notwithstanding her condition she was ever on the alert to do something for mother. Upon the married daughter, Mrs. T. S. Thompson, fell the burden of the household of the helpless mother. Right nobly did she rise to the occasion, and since time began, perhaps, no mother was cared for more devotedly. This attention and devotion was shared by her son-in-law, Mr. T. S. Thompson. The calls were never so numerous upon him for attention to his wife's mother as that they were not answered promptly and cheerfully. Such was the attention and devotion he gave his mother that it became known and spoken of by men. Verily, these living ones have their reward. The other son is Dr. George N. Waldeck, of Huntington, W. Va. Whenever he could find time from the duties of an exacting profession, he and his wife would visit mother. When it became known that Mrs. Waldeck had at last but a few days to live, Dr. Waldeck himself had been attacked by a virulent disease which kept him from going at once to the bedside of her who gave him birth. He and one son, Jack, were present, however, at the last sad rites. Mrs. Waldeck's sterling worth as wife, mother, daughter, sister and friend is too well known to need recounting here. Chilling winds, heats of summer, and the icy hands of death belong to this earth. "Aunt Ellen" Waldeck will suffer them no more. Things decay here, wither and are gone, but she is in the land of the amaranth where the blossoms never fade and where the Sun of righteousness drives all-night away.

TEST WELLS IN WAYNE COUNTY, W. VA.

The S. J. Ferguson Holdings of 4300
Acres to be Prospected.

We take the liberty of publishing the enclosed letter received a few days ago:

"I have just recently brought about a connection between The Flint Strother Co., a corporation of Clarksburg, W. Va., (who are in the oil and gas development business) and the heirs of the estate of S. J. Ferguson, deceased, of Ferguson, W. Va., which resulted in a lease being given on the entire holdings of our property consisting of 4300 acres more or less. According to the terms of the lease, drilling is to begin April 1st, and six test wells are to be drilled. The location of the first well was made last Tuesday, and arrangements are now being made to put the machinery on the ground immediately preparatory to drilling.

I have just recently purchased my uncle's holdings, Mr. John C. Ferguson, of Ferguson, W. Va., including mineral, residence and store. The deal was closed yesterday. My folks will move from Buckhannon, W. Va., to Ferguson about March 1st. My sister, Mrs. Ida V. Watts, will have charge of the store, and I shall continue my position, for a while at least, with the Roberts, Johnson & Rind, Shoe Co., of St. Louis, Mo., in the northern part of the state, with headquarters at Clarksburg, W. Va.

With my very kind wishes, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

THE HOME CIRCLE AND ITS INTERESTS.

Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Good Mothers.

It is claimed that all the presidents of the United States had good mothers. It is said that John Q. Adams until the day of his death, said the prayer his mother had taught him. Lincoln said, "All that I am I owe to my mother." Garfield kissed the wrinkled face of his mother on the day of his inauguration and said "You brought me to this." Grover Cleveland said, "Worldly honors or worldly perplexities will never cause me to forget the lessons my mother taught me." As the shadows lengthen, the memory of a mother's love becomes intensified.

All other earthly pleasures are a mockery in comparison to the contentment of a loving family circle. Other joys may last for a day, excite our interest for a time, but they fade away and leave us unsatisfied. While they are present we feel not the emptiness of this excitement—but with their vanishing our hearts hunger for the blessings which home alone can give. Even they who have never known what it is to have loving hearts welcome them on the threshold, and loving hands minister to their comfort, know that

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it.

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

these are life's most precious gifts, and that for a draught from this cup of peace.

If men would remember that a woman can't always be smiling who has to cook dinner, answer the door bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a neighbor who has dropped in, attend to a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old, gather up the playthings of a four-year-old, tie up the feet of a six-year-old on skates and get an eight-year-old ready for school—to say nothing of sweeping, cleaning, etc. A woman with all this to contend with may claim it as a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a world of sympathy would not be too much to expect for a man who, during the honeymoon, wouldn't let her carry so much as a suitcase.

To a young man away from home, friendless and forlorn in a great city, the hours of peril are those between sunset and bedtime. The moon and stars see more evil in a single hour than the sun in a whole day's circuit. The poet's visions of evening are all compact of tender and soothing images. It brings the wanderer to his home, the child to his mother's arms, and the ox to his stall and the weary laborer to his rest. But to the tender-hearted youth who is thrown upon the rocks of a pitiless city, and stands homeless among a thousand homes, the approach of evening brings with it an aching sense of loneliness and desolation which comes down on the spirit like darkness upon the earth. In this mood his best impulses become a snare to him, and he is led astray because he is social, affectionate, sympathetic, and warm-hearted.

There are persons whom to know is to love, honor and admire, and others whom to know is to shun and dislike. Live with persons of elevated character and you will feel lifted up in them. "Live with wolves and you will learn to howl," says the Spanish proverb. The life of every man is a daily incitement of good or bad example to others. The life of a good man is at the same time the most eloquent lesson of virtue and the most severe reproof of vice. There are men in whose presence we feel as if we breathed spiritual ozone, refreshing and invigorating, like inhaling mountain air or enjoying a bath of sunshine. The golden words that good men have uttered, the examples they have set, live thru all time. These being undisputed facts how carefully our young people should select their associates and be found only with those whose example they can take pride in following.

A single bitter word may disquiet an entire family for a whole day; one surly glance cast in gloom over the household; while a smile, like a gleam of sunshine, may light up the darkest and weariest hours. Like unexpected flowers which spring up along our path way full of freshness, fragrance, and beauty, so kind words and gentle acts and sweet dispositions make glad the sacred spot called home. No matter how humble the abode, if it be sweetened with kindness and smiles, the heart will turn lovingly toward it from all tumults of the world, and home, if it be ever so homely, will be the dearest spot beneath the circuit of the sun.

A good wife is to a man wisdom and courage, strength, hope and endurance. A bad one is confusion, weakness, discouragement and despair. No condition is happier when the wife possesses firmness, decision, energy and economy. There is no outward prosperity which can counteract indolence, folly, and extravagance at home. No spirit can long resist bad domestic influence.

It has been said that to have the children in your power would be to control the destiny of the world, but give us the mothers and let them realize their power, and we will have the children.

These days we sit on the sunny side of the car, walk on the sunny side of the street and sit in the sunny window of the house. Let us also walk on the sunny side of life and see the sunny side of the disjointed things of life.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS.

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signs often lead to dangerous kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which soon heals and strengthens the kidneys is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Louisa week-

TAKE "CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

BEST FOR LIVER AND BOWELS, BAD BREATH, BAD COLDS, SOUR STOMACH.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

ACIDS IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" FIXES SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACHS IN FIVE MINUTES.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare you to go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

WM. TAYLOR, of Glenwood, announces that he will be a candidate for Sheriff of Lawrence county, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the next primary election at which candidates for Sheriff are to be nominated.

Friday, February 25, 1916.

Harian county was dead to the world and buried out of sight until the L. & N. railroad was extended into it three years ago. Now it is progressing with a vengeance. They have voted a bond issue of $250,000 and will spend nearly half a million on roads.

Another hearing will be given our delegates on the judicial redistricting proposition at Frankfort Friday night of this week. If the members of the House can be induced to look into the matter it certainly does not seem reasonable that they would enact it into a law.

Representative John W. Langley, who is one of the most devoted champions of the pork barrel in Congress, hit the Federal Treasury a savage blow to-day when he introduced bills appropriating $75,000 to buy a site, and construct a public building in each of the following towns in his district: Inez, Booneville, Jenkins, Salyersville, Hindman, McKee, Whitesburg and Hazard. He also introduced a bill increasing the limit of cost of the Pikeville building $10,000, and a bill appropriating $50,000 to establish a fish hatchery and biological station at Booneville, Kentucky.

John knows he can't get any of these things, but he hopes to ensnare a good many votes by this simple process.

SCHMIDT PAYS PENALTY FOR AUMULLER MURDER.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Hans Schmidt was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison to-day for the murder of Anna Aumuller on September 2, 1913. Schmidt went quietly to the death chamber accompanied by the principal keeper and the Rev. Father Cashin, the prison chaplain. Leaving the death house, he said good-bye to those who remained.

When he entered the chamber the guards attempted to direct him toward the chair, but Schmidt gently shook them off and insisted upon addressing the seventeen witnesses. The guards desisted from their efforts and with Father Cashin standing at one side and the keeper at the other, Schmidt said:

"Gentlemen, I ask forgiveness of all those I have injured or scandalized. I forgive all who have injured me. My last wish is to say good-bye to my dear old mother."

EAST POINT.

Mrs. Jane Auxier died near Tram, in Pike county, Saturday before last and the remains were brought here Sunday for burial beside her husband, Joseph K. Auxier, who died twenty years ago at his home at this place. Mrs. Jane Auxier was a Revin, of Pike county and after the death of her husband she went to live with her relatives in that county. She, perhaps, had some peculiar characteristics, but was a good woman and lived and died in the christian faith. She was near 83 years of age and has been totally blind for thirty years or more and her husband was deaf for the greater part of his life. There were no children in their home and we remember the aged couple who sat so many lonely days together patiently enduring their afflictions until separated by death. But we hope death has again united them in a better world than this where suffering and sorrow are unknown.

The unusual severity of the weather prevented many from attending the funeral.

Mrs. B. F. Conley of Hager Hill, has been very sick lately.

MEETINGS CLOSED.

Evangelist J. R. Miller brought his series of meetings to a successful close at the Christian church in Louisa last Monday night. There were 19 additions to the church and very much interest was felt during the entire meeting. He certainly accomplished much good while here. The attendance upon this series of evangelistic services at the Christian church was by no means confined to the members of that body and on each occasion was a representative one, members from the various congregations in the city being present.

On Tuesday evening at the court house Mr. Miller delivered a very able address on "The Needs of the Hour." His audience was quite large and he was listened to with profound attention throughout this delivery. A prominent and attractive feature of the occasion was vocal and piano and violin music. Miss Kate Freese, Misses May and Grace Sammons, Miss Adda Murrs, and the violinist, Miss Agnes Abbott, were the contributors.

Mr. Miller made many friends while here and a return visit would be appreciated.

PRISONER MADE SENSATIONAL ESCAPE FROM SHERIFF.

Will Williams, 26, of Willard, Ky., a prisoner being returned to Kentucky by John L. Potts, sheriff of Carter county made a sensational jump out of the window of a swiftly moving Guyan Valley Passenger train.

Williams was handcuffed when he made the desperatt leap.

Sheriff Carter leaped to his feet as his prisoner sprang out of the window when the train was about one mile east of Martha, this county. The train was coming toward Huntington. Sheriff Carter pulled the bell cord and stopped the train, but not in time to catch Williams.

Then the sheriff offered a reward of $25 for Williams capture and a few hours later, Bailey Wentz, of the Hatfield Construction company and Andy Albertson started out to see if they couldn't win the reward. They found Williams, almost exhausted, lying behind a log on the banks of the Guyan river. He had succeeded in getting the handcuffs off one wrist, and was turned over to Sheriff Potts, who brought him to Huntington on the evening Guyan Valley train.

Williams was said to be wanted in Kentucky on a charge of shooting.—Herald-Dispatch.

THE STEEL PLANT TO BE MOST MODERN IN THE WORLD.

The purchase yesterday afternoon of the sheet mill property by the Ashland Iron and Mining Company means that Ashland is to witness one of the greatest awakenings in the iron and steel business this section of the country has ever known; for the plant will be placed in condition for operation in connection with the new open hearth steel plant which the A. I. & M. Company will have erected at a cost of more than a million dollars.

With the new steel plant and the sheet mill Ashland's iron industries will be able to turn out a finished material from the raw material, as the iron for the steel will be furnished by the two furnaces owned by the A. I. & M. Co.

A LOUISA INTERVIEW.

MR. PIGG TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE.

The following brief account of an interview with a Louisa man over six years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

G. E. Pigg, tinner, Cross St., Louisa, says: "For several years I was subject to severe backache. I had much trouble in passing the kidney secretions. Sometimes the secretions were profuse, then again scanty and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Louisa Drug Store, gave me the first relief I had received. After using this medicine, I enjoyed better health and entire freedom from kidney trouble." (Statement given June 21, 1909.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Pigg said: "I have been well since using Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago."

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 17.—Word reached here that Edward Noland, who recently had been awarded $11,000 for damages sustained in a railroad accident, had been robbed of almost the entire amount at his home near Eubanks, Ky., last night.

Noland had just collected the money, and after paying his attorney had taken it home with him and placed it under his pillow. He and his family were chloroformed while asleep, the report says.

The work of the Commission has a real economic value. There are 12,365 miles of running streams in Kentucky, which under present conditions produce considerably over one million dollars worth of food fish each year, when figured at 10 cents per pound, which could easily be doubled if the laws of the state be enforced.

In 1912 the game wardens captured and destroyed 1,088 hoop and wing nets, 67 seines and traps, and tore out 32 dams and fall traps. It is estimated that one hoop net will take 1,000 pounds of fish a year, so the 1,088 nets which were taken from less than 500 miles of streams represented 1,088,000 pounds of fish a year.

The United States Government, through its Fisheries Department, have facilities for distributing fish to the various states, but they have refused to plant fish in territory that is not protected, saying it was useless to liberate fish in waters not protected. So those states which had warden service and protected their streams got the bulk of the public distribution. But Kentucky is coming into her own, as shown by the Government reports:

In 1912 there was liberated in Kentucky 2,453,570 live fish.

In 1913 there was liberated in Kentucky 160,497 live fish.

WEST VIRGINIA ITEMS OF NEWS.

On Tuesday of this week Judge W. K. It is said that a similar injunction will be asked against the N. & W. Ry. Co.

Ancestor Paid Taxes With Apple Butter In Year 1813.

In the year 1813, Thomas Switzer, great grandfather of former Mayor Rufus Switzer, paid his taxes to the old commonwealth of Virginia, part in apple butter. Mr. Switzer made that statement yesterday with considerable amusement, when he displayed a number of ancient relics, in the form of legal papers.

Yellow and brittle with age, but easily read, is the receipt. Among other relics owned by Mr. Switzer is a receipt showing the consummation of a business deal between his grandfather and the grandfather of Judge Thomas H. Harvey, many years ago.

One of the early legal papers of Cabell-co., made in 1866, is a petition to the county governing body, then the Board of Supervisors, asking for the building of a road in Union and Grant districts—they were called townships in those days—on the main ridge from Union Town, to near the old Howell's Mill road.

The names of many Cabell-co. pioneers whose names have been carved "for many a year on the tomb," appear signed to the document. Other signers are living.—Herald-Dispatch.

Wayne Prisoner Makes Escape.
Passengers on a West Huntington street car were given a real moving picture thrill last night when a prisoner escaped from the authorities as he was about to be placed on the car.

The man was James Myers, wanted at Wayne Court House on a felony indictment. Deputies Ketcham and Brawshaw came from Wayne after the man and sought the assistance of Deputy Sheriff D. W. Frampton and County Jailer John Chapman.

Myers was rounded up in West Huntington. The Wayne deputies did not think it necessary to handcuff him. Just as the officers were taking Myers on a street car he was off with a whoop.

Frampton and Chapman pulled their revolvers and fired in an effort to frighten the man, but the shots added speed to his feet.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 16.—Inquiry among his former neighbors here, developed the fact today that insurance companies are investigating the death of near Cameron, W. Va., of J. D. Cox, a former real estate dealer of this place, and later a resident of Winchester, Va.

Cox, who once resided near Cameron went to that place during January, and was seen on the street late one evening.

At midnight his body was found on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, but details of how he came to his death were not known. The insurance companies are interested because a short time before his death he took out a policy for $7,500. The week previous he had secured other accident insurance to the amount of $2,500, making a total of $10,000. It is stated here that the claims will not be paid until the circumstances surrounding his death have been cleared up.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 19.—That he has no ambition to hold office but prefers to give his time to the practice of his profession as physician and surgeon is the declaration made by Governor Henry D. Hatfield in a statement given out today, in which he says that he will not be a candidate for United States senator. In making this declaration, the governor expressing his appreciation of the confidence reposed in him by the people in the state, especially since his election came at a time when few Republican governors were in the country.

The detonation was heard in Charleston. No one else was injured as far as can be learned.

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

SAVE YOUR HAIR! MAKE IT
THICK, WAVY AND BEAUTIFUL—TRY THIS!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A CHILD GETS CROSS, SICK AND FEVERISH WHEN CONSTIPATED

LOOK, MOTHER! IF TONGUE IS COATED CLEAN LITTLE LIVER AND BOWELS.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it hand because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child for tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Conservation stands sentinel over the natural resources of our country, and forbids wanton destruction of forests, mines and animal life.

Conservation multiplies the by-products of industry, and changes waste into profit. It is conservation that turns rags into miladi's dainty note paper.

It is conservation that gathers together worn out garments, discarded sheets, carpets, and similar objects which have served their useful purposes. In the General's big roofing mills, these are massed, saturated, sterilized and beaten into pulp, which finally comes out of the rollers in one continuous sheet of clean, strong roofing felt.

It is then thoroughly saturated with the General's own blend of soft asphalt and coated with a blend of harder asphalt, which keeps the inner saturation soft and prevents the drying-out process so destructive to the ordinary roofing. This explains why out-lasts other roofing; also why the General can safely guarantee it for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply. Experience has proved that CERTAIN-TEED will out last the period of guarantee.

The General makes one third of all the rolls of roofing made in America. Because of this enormous production, and the economies due to cheap power, modern machinery and favorably located mills, the General is able to make the best roofing at the lowest cost.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

SPUNK.

Malvina Moves

Malvina sighed and arose from her typewriter. "I might have known that inspiration for love stories would flee from mountain boarding houses," she told herself as she swept a hand across her wide, intelligent eyes.

From the room below which was called parlor came the refrain of "Oh, You Beautiful Dood!" then, "Every Little Movement." The tone from the piano itself was like the jangle of many discordant tins, but the music—

Malvina stopped her ears, then, with quick movements slipped into her white jersey and out into the cool mountain air. Her nerves were in dire need of calm and quiet.

She walked on with lightened heart. The pungent odor of balsam and the cool breezes from the lake soothed her.

She approached a small camp with eager steps. How had this jewel in the forest escaped her before?

The young author did not stop to realize that this was her first venture into the depths of the woods. And with the writer's longing for seclusion Malvina pictured herself ensconced in that picturesque camp. She felt that all of her huddling plot would burst into full bloom and that her name would appear in many of the magazines. Even under the trying position of living in boarding houses Malvina's work had found favor with two or three editors. James Blake of the Comet had been especially attracted to her stories. She hoped, before long, to meet him. He had been a great help to her.

The girl's imaginings had brought her to the door of the camp. Her eyes opened wide in surprise. The place was open at doors and windows and was apparently without an inhabitant. Malvina's heart quickened its beat. Perhaps she could run away from the boarding house with her little typewriter and work here in this wonder house?

Inside all was rough, but not without a sense of the artistic. Malvina came to the quick conclusion that a man who was fond of hunting owned the camp and that he was there only during the hunting season.

With joyous feet she hurried back to the boarding house and from there to the village store. It was imperative to Malvina that when writing she have pink flowered curtains and a pink kimono. The latter she already had. The pink curtains which she would tack up in the camp must be purchased at the one village store.

It was the following day before she arrived at the little house. She was laden with her typewriter, her pink curtains, her tea equipment and her pink kimono.

Malvina was tired but happy when she threw herself down on the wide couch for a moment's rest. The camp had been turned into a bower of pink and odd dishes of wild flowers were scattered about.

Outside at the edge of the forest, a big man swung along with an old handbag in one hand and his fishing paraphernalia in the other.

When he drew near an indefinable something stirred within him. Never before, during the many summers he had spent in the mountains, had his camp seemed so desirous.

Blake quickened his pace and sprang up to the veranda. He stopped before he had entered, beld by the glimmer of pink at the windows.

Instinctively Blake removed his soft hat before going inside. He caught a quick breath and stood as if suddenly lost to his surroundings.

By all the laws of propriety Blake should have turned and left his own camp. But he could not move with the sight of Malvina, pictured before him. She was in a sound sleep and her cheeks were flushed. Her glorious hair was a mass of spun copper that trailed over the cushion.

The power of his eyes disturbed her and she stirred. Blake, spell-bound, watched the heavy lashes flutter, then rise slowly up to reveal her eyes.

Blake then came to his senses and turned toward the door. He wanted outside on the veranda until she should come. He felt that she would follow immediately.

Malvina did. "I suppose you are the hunter who invited wayfarers into your camp?" she asked with a half smile.

"And you are the wayfarer?" Blake returned because he could think of nothing else for the moment.

"I supposed the hunting season did not begin until later," Malvina smiled half wistfully.

"It does not. But fishing suits me almost as well, and since the Comet needs me in the fall—"

"And you need your own camp now," Malvina interrupted. "It is time for me to depart."

"Not at all—I intend to stay at a boarding place nearby—where I shall not have to bother even with my own meager fare."

But Malvina would not remain; she felt that she must go, and since Blake had insisted that he preferred to stay at the boarding place he must needs go whether or not he liked.

Thus the two found themselves at the table of the mountain boarding house and it was in that once despaired parlor that—not a month later—Malvina promised to marry James Blake, editor.

HIGHSCHOOL TEAM WINS OVER HUNTINGTON.

The basketball team of the Congregationalist church arrived here from Jenkins last Saturday and in the afternoon this team engaged the team of the Pikeville high school in the gymnasium. Although the Huntington team came to Pikeville recommended as the best and most efficient team in its home town, the Pikeville boys put it over them by tremendous odds, the victors' score standing 34 to 22. A large number of people saw the game, and it was an interesting athletic event. The Huntington boys were splendidly entertained during their stay here and made to feel that they were welcome, though defeated.

CHILD BURIED HERE.

Mary Josephine, the infant daughter of Mrs. L. Q. Yimbury, which died at Cadetsburg last Wednesday from the effects of double pneumonia, was brought to Pikeville Thursday for burial. The remains of the little one were taken to the home of attorney I. M. Bowling on Main-st., where the funeral ceremony was held by Rev. M. C. Reynolds in the afternoon. Interment took place in the Pikeville cemetery just after the funeral.

DELIGHTFUL CANDY PARTY.

The home of Miss Anna Keel on Main-st., was the scene of a very enjoyable candy party last Saturday evening. The party was given by Miss Keel to the members of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church and their friends. While all the members were present, yet there was a crowded attendance. The first part of the evening was spent in playing Winkles, Clap-in-clap-out, etc., after which many gathered around a long table and pulled candy. The young people remained as the guests of Miss Keel until eleven o'clock, and all thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of the young hostess.

SOUTHERN METHODIST REVIVAL.

During the past week a very successful revival series of meetings has been in progress at the M. E. Church, South, under the direction of the Pastor, Rev. J. L. Vinson. He is receiving the co-operation of the other churches of the city and is being assisted by their pastors. The meetings continued through this week and may go on indefinitely. The Rev. Wade Rowe of the Methodist Episcopal church addressed the revival congregation last Monday evening, and at the evening service on the preceding day the auditorium of the church was crowded to the limit of its capacity to hear the sermon of Dr. Vinson. His sermon contained a temperance element, and he believes whiskey to be one of the most powerful retarding influences against the universal brotherhood of man. He said he would rather be called brother by one man than be called Doctor of Divinity by ten thousand men.

JUDGE BUTLER ORDERS
ELECTION PROBED.

In delivering his instructions to the grand jury at the opening of the February term of the Pike Circuit Court last Monday Judge John F. Butler advised the jury to probe deep into indications of bribery said to have been practiced at the last November election in Pike county. Judge Butler made the unrestricted statement from the bench that thousands of dollars had been spent in the election referred to, and that in some precincts five, ten, fifteen and even twenty dollars each had been paid for votes. He charged that the evidence was too glaring to be overlooked, and he has expressed his intention of doing what he can as the administrator of the law, and without any spirit of antagonism, to bring the briber to justice as well as the bribed. Each will have equal chance under the plan adopted to turn state's evidence against the other and thereby obtain immunity.

ENTERTAINED
ARACHNE CLUB.

Miss Alice H. Record was the charming hostess to the Arachne Club and a number of guests on last Saturday afternoon. After an hour or more spent with embroidery and other fancy work, a most delightful luncheon was served. On account of the nearness of Washington's Birthday the affair was rather a patriotic one. The refreshments consisted of Bunker Hill cake, Boston baked beans, Boston brown bread, sandwiches, pickles and coffee. Those present were: Misses Ethel Francis, Alice Johnston, Frances Bowles, Mary Morgan, Ruth Crawford, Lorraine Bowles, Ruth Greer, Emma A. Tackaberry, Alma Matney, Katharyn Mays, Ethel Hackney, Ruth Burke, Olive Hatcher, Katharyn Keel, Lucile Davies, Alice Record, and Mesdames George Brooks, Linton Trivette and Walter Hatcher.

JOHNSON COUNTY LIKES
PIKEVILLE'S HIGH SCHOOL.

A delegation of Johnson county, citizens from Paintsville were here Tuesday to inspect Pikeville school buildings, especially the new graded and high school building on Fourth-st. Among the delegation interested in the schools of their home county were W. L. Preston, merchant, C. M. Cooper, attorney, who is a brother of attorney H. H. Cooper of Pikeville, and Prof. W. A. Pond, principal of the Paintsville public school.

The object of the visit of these men is to gather ideas for the new high school building soon to be erected at Paintsville. The delegation was much impressed with the architectural beauty and handy arrangement of the Pikeville building, which is regarded as a model and one of the very best school houses in the state. They closely inspected it in detail and will use its best features in the construction of the proposed high school addition to their present school building at Paintsville.

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN.

James Hatcher, wealthy Pike county land and timber owner, and also owner of the Pike Hotel, is a candidate for Committeeman from this district to the next Democratic National Convention. Mr. Hatcher is widely known in Eastern Kentucky. He is a successful business man with hosts of friends and is doing his campaign. Mr. Hatcher has been at Mount Sterling this week buying some first-grade cattle for his farm at Ivel, near Pikeville.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

On last Tuesday both of the schools of Pikeville and other social organizations fittingly celebrated the birthday of our illustrious hero of the cherry tree and hatchet. Special exercises were held at both the College and graded school. During the noon hour the students of the graded school paraded through the streets of this city with flags and banners flying, and at stated intervals the school yell was given. It was a splendid token that the Father of America and the brave men who suffered with him for the independence of the colonies had not been forgotten.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION
FAVORS BOND ISSUE.

A good roads convention was held at Pikeville last Monday evening in response to County Judge H. H. Stallard's call for a public expression of opinion on the subject of better roads. The convention was well attended by a very large crowd of citizens from every part of the county who are much interested in favor of the improvement. The result of the convention was a unanimous vote favoring a bond issue by the county of $700,000 to cover the improvements sought to be made. There were no dissenting opinions from anyone except on the question of taxation to meet the bonded debt; but this was also set at rest by the announcement of Judge Stallard that the obligation could be met without any increase whatever in the tax on property.

The convention was made a permanent organization with Judge Stallard elected as Chairman and W. K. Elliott, former city attorney, as Secretary. On Tuesday evening the organization met again, and a petition was presented to Judge Stallard asking that an election be held. The petition signed by a number of persons far in excess of the number required by law, and this list of signers was made up in a very few minutes before the meeting opened. Judge Stallard accordingly authorized County Attorney E. J. Picklesimer to prepare an order for an election on the bond issue to be held May 6th, the law requiring at least sixty days, and it will propose the issuance of $500,000 in bonds.

Pike is the first county in the eastern division of the state to take a definite step looking to better roads. With its unlimited resources in other respects, aided by a convenient road system, it has a happy prospect of becoming the wealthiest county in the state outside of Jefferson county, and the most desirable place to live.

A proposition to a special election one year ago carried a majority of nine votes; we predict that here is another improvement that will meet the same popular approval, because we need the good roads and everyone knows it.

PUBLIC INDECENCY CHARGED AGAINST STRANGER.

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 24.—A stranger giving his name as Azy Sizemore of Morgan county, was placed in jail Wednesday upon a charge of indecency filed against him before the grand jury which is now in session. Sizemore was stopping at a local boarding house. The witnesses are several students who were passing on their way home from school. The identification is not positive on the part of the students who were witnesses to the alleged indecency gave the information to the grand jury which resulted in Sizemore's being turned over to the jailer to await a formal hearing of the case.

The stranger claims that a mistake had been made in his arrest and that he knows nothing of the matter.

PASTOR GIVES GLIMPSE OF LIFE'S WORK.

With few exceptions the life work of Rev. M. C. Reynolds as a Methodist preacher is the most unique in the history of Eastern Kentucky. He has been a member and most industrious worker of the First Methodist church of Pikeville since it was built in the year 1873, and is now its pastor. The church is laboring under a financial strain and is about to be sold for debt. Two years ago he accepted the responsibility for two big tasks, and took them voluntarily without pay. The one was to fill the pulpit of the church as its pastor, and the other was to raise the necessary fund with which to discharge the debt hanging over it and thus to save the property of the church from threatened sale. It will require $10,000 to do this, and results are not materializing as fast as he would like, though he is yet confident of the outcome of the campaign which he recently started.

Minister 31 Years.

He was ordained as a minister of the Gospel of the Methodist Episcopal Fellow and Royal Arch Mason. He is church in the year 1885 and is an Odd known as the most charitable person in Eastern Kentucky, and he has ministered to the sick and afflicted of all classes. He has preached over 1400 funerals in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky. During his travels through the remote parts of the county in the feudal days he met some experiences that amounted to nothing short of hairbreadth escape. He preached extensively on the eastern side of the county 25 years ago during the Hatfield-McCoy feud, and he tells how the grim-visaged men of the country came to church and listened attentively through the service, but always with their guns across their laps ready for action. It was at one of these meetings held at the Honaker Academy fourteen years ago that Uncle Randall McCoy, father and grandfather of a sturdy generation of present citizens of this county, was converted to the faith after the bloody history of the great feud had drawn to a close. Calamity had not bent the old man's physical strength nor warped his moral courage; but on the contrary, he was stronger and more courageous than ever.

On another occasion he went to the Dorton church to preach. Surly men who had little confidence in him thought he was an officer in disguise pointed out the church door to him which had been shot so full of holes that he was unable to count them.

Escaped Assassination.

About eleven years ago he was riding home at mid-night from a visit to a sick neighbor on Buckley's creek who was thought to be dying. As he passed a certain place in the road a would-be assassin, whom he thinks he recognized, fired at him so close that the powder burned his face. He haled his horse, turned and called his assailant by name and asked if it was his intention to murder a defenseless man. No sooner had he spoken the words than another bullet from the would-be assassin's gun clipped the hand on his hat and tore a large opening through the crown. His daughter, Mrs. James A. Scott, of this city yet has the hat in her possession.

Many times while traveling through the Elkhorn country, he was stopped on the road by masked men who took him for a government agent and he was compelled to dismount and give a satisfactory explanation that he was not looking for moonshine stills and was only a humble preacher. He has held prayer with these men, and they treated him with great civility and they were convinced that he was not an impostor.

Some years ago a man named Rev. John Finlayson came to this state from Virginia. He had not been engaged in pastoral duties in this county long before liquor got the upper hold on him, and he rapidly went to the bad. One day Finlayson, while intoxicated, was riding along a country road and he met Mr. Reynolds coming along in his buggy. "Get out and move your trap out of the road," was the sharp command from Finlayson, backed up by a lance of heavy-caliber revolver. "All right, Brother Finlayson," was the meek reply. "And now," said the stranger as he rode by, "you will know how to act hereafter when you meet a gentleman." "Good-bye and God bless you," was the answer. Finlayson afterwards killed a man in Floyd county and was sentenced to be hanged at Prestonsburg. Repenting of the insulting remarks he had made to a man who had repented only with a benediction of blessings, he sent for Mr. Reynolds to administer spiritual advice to him in his last hours before the trap was sprung under him. He begged that the man whom he had mistreated without cause would claim his body after death and remove it to Coal Run. Mr. Reynolds' home, for burial. This was done in accordance with the wishes, though the body had to be hauled 25 miles over rough roads.

"And I have lived this life and made these sacrifices all because of my love for Christ and Methodism," said Mr. Reynolds last Saturday, "and after these years of hardship I am confronted with the threatened sale of my church, the church which has not only been the fosterer of my religion but also the charitable help to many poor people and children who bless the church because it has been a haven to them in their need."

LEITCHER COUNTY
AND WHITESBURG.What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

WHITESBURG, KY., Feb. 22.—The coal mining business throughout the Elkhorn and Boone's Fork sections of this county is assuming gigantic proportions, and, if present plans materialize indications are good for practically doubling the present output within the next two or three months. It is said here the recent visit of Geo. W. Fleming, President of The Elkhorn Coal Corporation, and other officials through the operations of the company at Fleming and Haymond on Boone's Fork meant considerable work and a large increase in the output of these mines, opening of new mines, etc.

A goodly number of miners' houses are to be built in both Haymond and Fleming, the work at the former place having been started the past week. The work will necessitate the employing of several hundred additional men. Practically the same conditions exist in the big plants of The Consolidation Coal Co., in the Jenkins-McRoberts fields. There is little question but that the tonnage of The Consolidation, already large, will be largely increased during the spring months. So heavy is the coal shipments that the Louisville & Ohio's short line between Shelby and Jenkins is said to be taxed, while traffic is generally much congested owing to the large number of coal trains daily passing down the Chesapeake & Ohio's Big Sandy branch. Owing to the improved business conditions throughout the Big Sandy river and its tributaries the B. & O. is said to be completing plans for the building of a line from Kennas through Lawrence, Martin and Pike counties to Shelby, to a connection with its Jenkins branch. It is believed this road is a certainty.

The year 1916 will also see a number of important branches built along the Kentucky river, out from the Louisville & Nashville, into undeveloped coal fields. In all there is unusual activity in the coal fields all over Eastern Kentucky.

T. H. Walts, Sr., aged 59, good citizen of the Lower Lane Fork creek section of this county was severely shot a few days ago according to a report reaching this city. Three small boys whose names were not learned are said to have been in a fight over a settlement, shooting at each other, when Mr. Walts attempted to act as peacemaker and stepped between the boys, and in the range of the shots.

Two bulls are said to have pierced his thigh and another the knee inflicting what is feared fatal wounds. The boys have been arrested and are being held pending an investigation.

Miss Evelyn Hall of Boone's Fork charged with bootlegging and peddling moonshine whiskey in the coal fields around Seco and Fleming was tried before U. S. Commissioner Samuel Collins here Saturday and was bound over to the U. S. District Court at Frankfort, to be tried in April. She was allowed bond in the sum of $500 which she executed and returned home.

Meinhart's German Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma and all other Irritations of the Throat and Lungs. It Helped others and will help you. Try it. 25c.

point near Hickey in the southern section of the county and four big coal cars were a total mass of ruins, while the track was demoralized for quite a distance. All train service was tied up during the day, and transfer of passenger, express and mail was necessary. The train from Jackson to Meinhart did not make the trip at all, and business of all kinds was much handicapped. The coal was destined for the Great Lake Region. It was the worst wreck in months.

These lectures are being well attended. Interest is growing daily in the work, and it is believed that great good will result with a moral uplift for the county.
